

ANDERSON FOUND GUILTY BY JURY

Convicted of Stealing From Freight Cars in the B. & O. Yards Here.

Before adjournment on Friday afternoon the case of the State vs. James Anderson was continued. Anderson on cross-examination gave in detail his version of how Gibson beat him. Anderson swore he was beaten into insensibility by Gibson. The prosecuting attorney asked if he called the attention of the jail physician to the wound and bruises. Anderson said he had.

Anderson was asked how it came that he had so many pairs of shoes in his possession. Anderson claimed he stocked up with shoes before they raised in price.

The State asserted the big batch of goods alleged to have been taken from Anderson's home. There was a large supply of yeast, 14 boxes of candy usually given with punch board chances; 41 Belladonna plasters and other articles. Anderson claimed that he bought three or four boxes of candy from Major Davis before he closed out his candy stand in Fairmont. Anderson tried to explain away how the goods came into his possession, but he naturally had a big job before him. The date on the packs of cigarettes were more recent than the date Anderson said that he had purchased them.

Mrs. James Anderson was called to the stand and testified in the interest of her husband. She said that no ivory was ever put under a mattress in the house. Some of the shirts she said Anderson had purchased before he was married.

Frank Anderson, a brother of the accused, was then sworn. He testified that he was at Starn's home when Starn gave his brother a pair of woman's laced shoes.

M. R. Wimmers, of the Hub, was called and testified that Anderson had made purchases from him. He testified that several articles had been purchased there.

Samuel B. Iseman and C. B. Highland, local merchants, were called by the State. They denied that Anderson had purchased a certain pair of shoes there.

The prosecuting attorney then addressed the jury. He told the jury that they all combined would not have as much Magic yeast in their homes as Anderson had. This also he applied to the large amount of candy and shoes that Anderson had in his possession. The prosecuting attorney termed Anderson "an unscrupulous liar." He then referred to how Anderson's alleged purchases were denied by Fairmont merchants.

Attorney Musgrave addressed the jury on behalf of the accused. He contended that it was not proved that Anderson entered the car with intent to steal. He endeavored to point out that there was some doubt as to Anderson being the same man that was on the freight cars. He said the officers should have followed the man. Attorney Musgrave then referred to Lieutenant Gibson assaulting Anderson and trying to get Anderson to make a confession. He contended that Gibson admitted that he struck Anderson, but the attorney for the defense said that Gibson endeavored to smooth it over and minimize it.

The prosecuting attorney again addressed the jury. He declared Anderson's statements as being untrue in reference to Gibson's assaulting him. He contended that the defendant did not deny that the car seal was found in his pocket. He wanted to know how a man of Anderson's means could afford to buy all that stuff.

Judge Haymond then charged the jury.

The case went to the jury about 4:45 o'clock and Judge Haymond said the court would wait until 5:30 o'clock for a jury. The jury returned a verdict of guilty on the second count of the indictment, which was entering a freight car without breaking. The penalty carries with it a sentence of from one to ten years, but as Anderson was in the penitentiary before, the sentence will be heavier than it would be in the usual case.

Lovell Gray entered a plea of not guilty to felonious shooting. The case has been continued from November 27 to December 3. He gave bond in the sum of $1,000. Attorney C. L. Musgrave represents Gray.

No session of court was held today because of a death in the family of Judge Haymond's brother. On Monday the case of Ciacchiano Catalano, charged with the murder of Melvin T. Daugherty is set for trial. Attorney M. M. Neely will represent Catalano. Court will convene at 9 o'clock in the morning.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful."

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui.

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again. I decided I would try Cardui. By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well. If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health. Give it a trial. NC-133

LUMBERPORT TOO NEEDS MORE HOUSES

Increase in Mining Activity Creates Great Demand For Homes.

(E. E. Meredith Press Bureau.) LUMBERPORT, W. Va. Nov. 24.—Lumberport's greatest need is houses. Next to that is capital which will build houses. It is not unlike many other West Virginia towns in this respect.

"I could rent twenty houses by Saturday night next," declared Mayor L. C. Oyster, when interviewed early this week.

"I'll venture the statement that twenty-five people have been at my door inside a week asking if I had a house for rent," said J. Hood Hornor, who is building several new houses.

Lumberport's greatest drawback is the lack of houses. Coal companies are building houses in nearly every direction from the center of the town and will have to build many more for the development of Lumberport in a coal way is just beginning. Recently a string of new houses were built by Dr. L. C. Oyster and Vance Hornor, The Hornor Hardware Co., J. Hood Hornor, and H. C. Hodges but Lumberport needs more men with capital to erect houses.

Cheap houses are not so much in demand as the better grade of homes. However people will take anything they can get. Houses cost more than they did formerly but the people will pay the rents demanded in Lumberport. J. Hood Hornor is building a concrete house which he says ought to cost $2,500 but is going to cost him between $3,500 and $4,000.

The ordinary laborer is making as high as $5.50 a day in Lumberport so he does not stand on rent of a home. He pays anything asked. It is a great field for the investor and capital is needed, so leading citizens say, to provide for the wants in houses which has grown too insistent for local men of means to provide.

A Twenty-five Cent Smoke

One for you, maybe; 100 for a soldier

YOU probably know what that means when you have one, maybe "two for a quarter" is your favorite spend.

But the value of a smoke isn't only in what it costs; it's partly in who smokes it, and what it means to him.

Most men who smoke will give up a quarter without thinking much about it; you want a smoke you "drop in" and get it. A quarter is nothing to you then.

But over in France, where they can't "drop in" at the next corner, the soldiers are hungry for the quarter's worth of American smokes, that you take and enjoy so lightly.

Our tobacco fund for soldiers is supplying them.

The kit of good smokes that your quarter will buy for the soldiers is about double what it buys for you. We've arranged with the American Tobacco Company to make up these "kits" with 45 cents worth for 25 cents.

Your quarter will go farther and do more good in this way than any 25 cents that you ever tossed on the counter. Three packages of Bull Durham, two packs Lucky Strike Cigarettes, one tin of Tuxedo, plenty of "papers" for making, and a stamped post card addressed to you; for 25 cents.

Better make it $1.00, or $5.00 or $10.00; send 4, or 20 or 40 of these kits to fellows who need 'em worse than you ever did.
